Prior to her legal career, Deborah Buchholz served for six years in the United States Air Force, first as a supply management specialist at Yokota AB Japan and then as a financial analyst at McConnell AFB in Kansas. Ms. Buchholz rose rapidly through the ranks. She obtained three separate degrees and excelled in the required professional military education, as demonstrated by the receipt of the John Levito Award, the highest honor presented to a graduate thereof.

Following her honorable discharge in 2002, Deborah Buchholz was granted a full scholarship to and attended Washburn University School of Law. There, Ms. Buchholz received CALI Awards of Excellence for multiple classes recognizing her as the top student and ultimately graduated Magna Cum Laude in 2004.

Ms. Buchholz is now an experienced business attorney with expertise in transactions including business formations, contract negotiations, real estate development transactions, and healthcare-related matters.
